Abstract: In this article, comparing the changes made to the child allowance system with the previous system, I will discuss this topic in detail and try to reveal the conveniences of the new system.

Keywords: Children's allowance, single interactive public services portal, single register, electronic application.

Introduction.

As of 2023, the number of families receiving social benefits in Uzbekistan is more than 2.1 million[1]. This indicator itself indicates the need to improve the legislation in this system. No country that is not indifferent to the condition of its population will leave the part of its population in need of social protection to its own devices. Including Uzbekistan, it has always supported the people in need of social protection by creating a number of benefits. It is no exaggeration to say that the last reform in this system is a proof of our statement.

The main part.

The decision of the Cabinet of Ministers dated November 10, 2023 on measures to introduce electronic application for identifying low-income families and assigning them social benefits through the information system "Unified Register of Social Protection" was adopted[2].

In accordance with this decision, starting from April 2024, citizens had the opportunity to apply for child allowance and financial assistance online without unnecessary hassles. Citizens have been given the opportunity to submit applications through the Unified Interactive State Services Portal (YIDXP). Before that, they were appointed by the commissions of the neighborhood assembly (MFY). Currently, 53 types of information are received from 16 ministries, and allowances are assigned based on them. According to the procedure, citizens submit an application to MFY for child allowance and financial assistance. MFY delivers applications to the Pension Fund. And the fund enters the documents into the program. That is, neither the MFY nor the fund have a role in decision-making.

Also, with this decision, the following changes and additions were made to the criteria for assigning social benefits:

One of the most important changes is that starting from December 2023, after the appointment of child allowance and financial support, the economic status of the family will be automatically monitored every month with the help of the Unified Register IT, and if the economic status of the family has improved, for example, a second real estate or a non-residential place, If he buys a new vehicle or starts earning a higher salary, the allowance will be suspended. According to the previous system, a person submitted an application for a pension, and after receiving a pension, he bought real estate or a motor vehicle, and although his financial situation improved, the pension was paid for 12 months regardless of this. The amendment to the legislation eliminated this shortcoming.

The next change is that, starting from November 16, 2023, a family member who has been granted child allowance or financial support without the requirement of official employment due to the application submitted to the labor authorities, will be provided with vocational training, skill development through the labor authority for 3 months from the month of child allowance or financial assistance. does not study in retraining courses, is not registered at the center as a job seeker or unemployed, does not get a job, is not included in the list of self-employed and self-employed citizens, or regularly (two or more times) rejects acceptable job offers from labor authorities if he did, the payment of child allowance or financial assistance will be suspended from the following month;

The third change is that children's allowance or financial assistance will be refused to families with a light vehicle manufactured for less than 12 years. In this case, the procedure of not refusing to grant benefits to the family of groups I or II and disabled from childhood up to 18 years of age, whose production period exceeds 7 years, shall be preserved;

The fourth change is automatically determined on the basis of electronic data, whether a citizen is abroad or engaged in the activity of "every family is an entrepreneur". In this case, the procedure for determining by neighborhood assemblies will be canceled. At the same time, from March 1, 2024, motor vehicles, real estate, and livestock that are not registered in the name of the family receiving child allowance or financial assistance will be examined by the "Makhalla Yetylig" for compliance with the information provided in their applications. And this change, in my opinion, is the most important of all changes. Because under the previous system, citizens could receive social benefits by transferring their property to another person, pretending to be in need of false social protection. As a result of the automation of the system as a result of the new legislation, moreover, as a result of the neighborhood seven going to the place, checking and studying the property used by the person, this offense was put an end to.

Summary.

In conclusion, we can say that the improvement in the child benefit system has stopped many people falsely pretending to be in need of social protection from receiving social assistance illegally. In addition, as a result of automation of the system, the human factor has decreased and created the basis for the transparency of the system.
